Watch your competitors fall behind as they wait to receive their products.

QUALITY

When you sell a plant protection product, it's not just the manufacturer's reputation that's on the line; your reputation is at stake too.

Stock your shelves with the Ospray range of agricultural chemicals and you can feel confident that each and every product will perform as expected. Our development and testing process coupled with the careful selection of high quality actives, results in a quality range that gives optimum performance in the field.

For added piece of mind, our field staff and chemists provide after sales support if it's needed.
